Judge Dismisses Charge Of Perjury Against Lattimore

WASHINGTON (AP)—US District Judge Luther Youngdahl today dismissed a new indictment accusing falsely when he denied he ever had been a follower of the Communist line or a promoter of Red interests.

In doing so, Judge Youngdahl said:

"To require defendant (Lattimore) to go on trial for perjury under charges so formless and obscure as those before the court would make a sham of the Sixth Amendment and the federal rule requiring specificity of charges."

The judge apparently referred to the portion of the Sixth Amendment to the Constitution which requires that a defendant be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation. The defense in the Lattimore case has contended that the accusation was too vague to define an offense and permit preparation of a defense.

The charge which Youngdahl threw out was returned by a federal grand jury last October. The two-count indictment, in effect, replaced the key count of a December 1952 indictment. Youngdahl had dismissed that count in May 1953, and was upheld by the U.S. Court of Appeals here.

Dismissal of the new indictment is subject to appeal by the government. The government took that course when Youngdahl dismissed four of the seven counts of the original indictment.

The court of appeals restored two of the counts which Youngdahl had dismissed, but agreed with him on the main charge.

The accusations against Lattimore, controversial Far Eastern affairs specialist, all grew out of his testimony in 1952 before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, then headed by the late Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.).

The committee was investigating the affairs of the Institute of Pacific Relations and its publication, "Pacific Affairs," which Lattimore once edited.

GOP Officers Are Selected

Ned Massa Again Heads Local Group

New officers were elected at a re-organization meeting of the Salem Republican Club Monday night in the Memorial Building.

Ned Massa will serve again as city chairman; Miss Elma Auld, secretary; Charles Mangus, vice chairman; and Carl Abe, treasurer.

Seventy-five persons, party workers and prospective candidates attended the meeting.

Harry Vincent, former mayor, indicated that he would be a candidate for the top executive job at the May primaries.

Others declaring themselves as candidates were Mrs. Helen Coyne for city auditor; James Primm Jr., for solicitor; Orvil C. Hoover for treasurer; and Arthur L. Hanna and Daniel Dunbar for council-at-large.

Council: First ward, Rudy Lindner; second ward, Lee Gopp and Donald Cannon; third ward, Frank Byerly; fourth ward, Carl Abe.

Although the organization gave no endorsement to any issue or candidate, a vote of confidence was given to the candidates.

Lloyd Gordon, who was mentioned yesterday as a probable mayoralty candidate for a city manager type of government, announced today that he was withdrawing his name as a Republican candidate for mayor.

Story of Boys' Crimes Began At Newsstand
LISBON — Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin said Monday the real culprit in the saga of the 466 looted parking meters in East Liverpool was a crinkled, cheap book titled "The Bold Saboteurs."

The ringleaders in the three-week pillage of parking meters were, paradoxically, the youngest. They made an uninhibited confession to Judge Tobin that the get-rich-quick scheme had the pulp crime book as a basis.

The back cover advertised the pocketbook as "the bizarre story of a young thief named Yogi who knows more about more kinds of sin at the age of 16 than you will know in your lifetime."

"It is this kind of unrestricted literature that is providing the ideas for much of the young crime in the United States," the judge declared after penalizing the four boys.

He opened the drawer of his desk which held a homemade arsenal of weapons and tools, including the chunk of sandstone and screwdriver used by the meter vandals to extract the petty cash.

The judge said he does not advocate removing all such literature from newsstands, but that operators of magazine stores and parents should take care that crime-suggesting books do not fall into the hands of teenagers.

"It is a pathetic thing to see a young man make a hero of a young thief from fiction and decide to pattern himself after him," Judge Tobin added.

Invaders Backed By 20 Warships Bombing Attack

Island Is Near Vital Tachen Outpost; U. S. Fleet In Vicinity

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—A Communist invasion force backed by 20 warships struck strategic Yikiangshan today and apparently conquered the tiny Nationalist Chinese island outpost.

Reliable reports in the Nationalist capital said radio contact with the island was broken at 6 p. m. (5 a. m. EST) and it was presumed the Reds had completed their conquest.

An earlier Defense Ministry communique had prepared the public for the islands fall by announcing that Yikiangshan, a stepping stone to the important Tachen Islands, was garrisoned "by a few brave guerrillas" who late today "were still resisting bravely."

Fear Tachen Invasion
Unofficial quarters said they feared a full-scale invasion of the Tachens might come at any moment.

President Chiang Kai-shek called a conference of top level military leaders at Nationalist headquarters here tonight.

It was reliably reported that the Reds shelled the Tachens this afternoon but made no attempt to land there.

Peiping Radio said early Wednesday Chinese Communist amphibious forces Tuesday liberated Yikiangshan.

(The Chinese language broadcast was monitored in Tokyo by Radio Press Agency.)

70 Ships Attacked
Nationalist reports said the assault on Yokoangshan was delivered by 70 ships, including 20 warships, among them gunboats and torpedo boats.

Huge fires started on the island were clearly visible from the U. S. 7th Fleet patrols the waters of the Formosa Strait, but there was no indications what steps—if any—the United States might take.

The United States is committed to the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores, but has never said what it would do if any of the Nationalist offshore islands was invaded.

Yikiangshan is eight miles north of the Tachens and five miles south of Red-held Tumen Island. From Yikiangshan the Reds could hammer the Tachens with 155 mm.

Veterans Increase Polio Fund By $550

A total of $550.17 was contributed by Salem citizens during the wheel chair campaigns conducted Friday night and Saturday by veterans organizations in connection with the March of Dimes fund drive. Participating were the Amvets, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the American Legion.

Local chairman Bryce Kendall says that official hope to better last year's total of $7,883.23 in 1955's drive which will end Jan. 31.

Special events in 1954 such as coffee days, and several wheelbarrow campaigns netted $626.84. Special events this year have totaled $550.17 with two wheelchair campaigns and a Jan. 29 dance expected to raise additional funds.

House-to-house solicitations this year exceeded the 1954 figure by $133.91. In 1954, $907.66 was obtained while $1,041.57 was received in Sunday's Girl Scout canvass.

According to Mrs. Winifred Byers, county secretary for the fund, $4,879.56 was expended in Salem during 1954 to fight the disease which accounted for three deaths from the 23 cases treated in the city. In 1953, only one victim was treated in Salem.

In the county, $12,759.26 was used to care for 63 persons during 1954. The previous year only 39 cases were reported.

Battlefront Quiet In Costa Rica

4 U. S. Planes Aid Loyalists' Cause

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—The battlefront in Costa Rica's war against rebels quieted last night after the arrival of four U.S. fighter planes to bolster President Jose Figueres' forces.

Two of the three planes reportedly used by the insurgents promptly flew to Nicaragua and were seized by the Nicaraguan government.

Despite rebel radio claims of big victories, a general staff communique said no fights of any sort were reported yesterday in northwestern Costa Rica, the only previously active front.

Rebels Seen Restless
"Advanced (army) patrols carried out active missions during the day," the communique said, "but in no case established contact with the enemy, which seems to be disconcerted and the victim of unrest."

Elsewhere in the country, the general staff said, "complete calm" prevailed, with the government in "absolute control of the situation."

Plans Big Push
Unofficial sources indicated that the government was getting ready for a big push in the Santa Rosa area, about 20 miles from the Nicaraguan frontier in the northwestern part of the country. One eyewitness said loyalty reinforcements were moving up toward this sector.

The general staff communique contradicted claims of the rebel radio that insurgent troops defeated government forces in a pitched battle at Santa Rosa. The radio also claimed that former Costa Rican President Angel Calderon Guardia, "supreme commander" of the rebel forces, "is now at the gates of Liberia."

A key city on the Inter-American Highway, Liberia is about 20 miles south of Santa Rosa and 138 miles northwest of San Jose. It has been strafed several times by rebel planes.

Justice of the Peace Felix Butch later held the defendant for grand jury under $2,000 bond after he pleaded guilty to sodomy.

Bernas was arrested by Leetonia police at his home Monday morning.

Two Columbiana Women Save Neighbor's Home
COLUMBIANA — Firemen here credit two neighbor women with saving the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Doss from destruction by fire yesterday afternoon.

Located on the Middleton Road a mile south of here, the dwelling was vacant when a passing motorist saw smoke issuing from the side of the building. He informed two neighbors, Mrs. Dick Schmidt and Mrs. Dick Noel, who contacted the fire department at 2:40 and then proceeded to carry water until firemen arrived.

Mr. Doss, at work at the time of the blaze, estimated damages at $200, but said the loss was covered by insurance. The fire which apparently started just behind a coal stove burned through the side of the house.

Mrs. Doss is vacationing in Michigan.

Knowland, Ike Disagree Again

Senator Disappointed By Mission To China

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once more Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader in the Senate, has given evidence he will remain a problem to the White House.

He expressed disappointment yesterday over Red China's failure to release the 11 captured American airmen. Others before him, including Eisenhower, had done the same. It was the way Knowland did it which made the difference.

Eisenhower had asked Americans to avoid talk of "reprisals or retaliation" against the Red Chinese while the United Nations tries to win freedom for the fliers imprisoned on spying charges the United States has termed false.

Earlier, Knowland had called for a blockade of China—a reprisal—if Red China did not free the airmen. That idea of blockading Red China has been in Knowland's mind almost from the time Eisenhower stepped into the White House in 1953, although the reasons have not always been the same.

In Eisenhower's first month in office, when the Korean War was still going on, Knowland urged that Red China be blockaded. Knowland wasn't Republican Senate leader then. He didn't become leader until Sen. Robert A. Taft's death in the summer of 1953.

When Taft became ill, he chose Knowland as acting leader. After the Ohioan died, the Republican senators—not Eisenhower—ratified the choice. Knowland fought hard for Eisenhower on many issues but on some he differed with the White House.

Knowland has said he considers himself in a dual role: he represents White House views to the Senate and the Senate's views to the White House. But so far, he could hardly claim to be expressing the views of a majority of the Senate when he advocates a China blockade. There is no sign of majority support to back him.

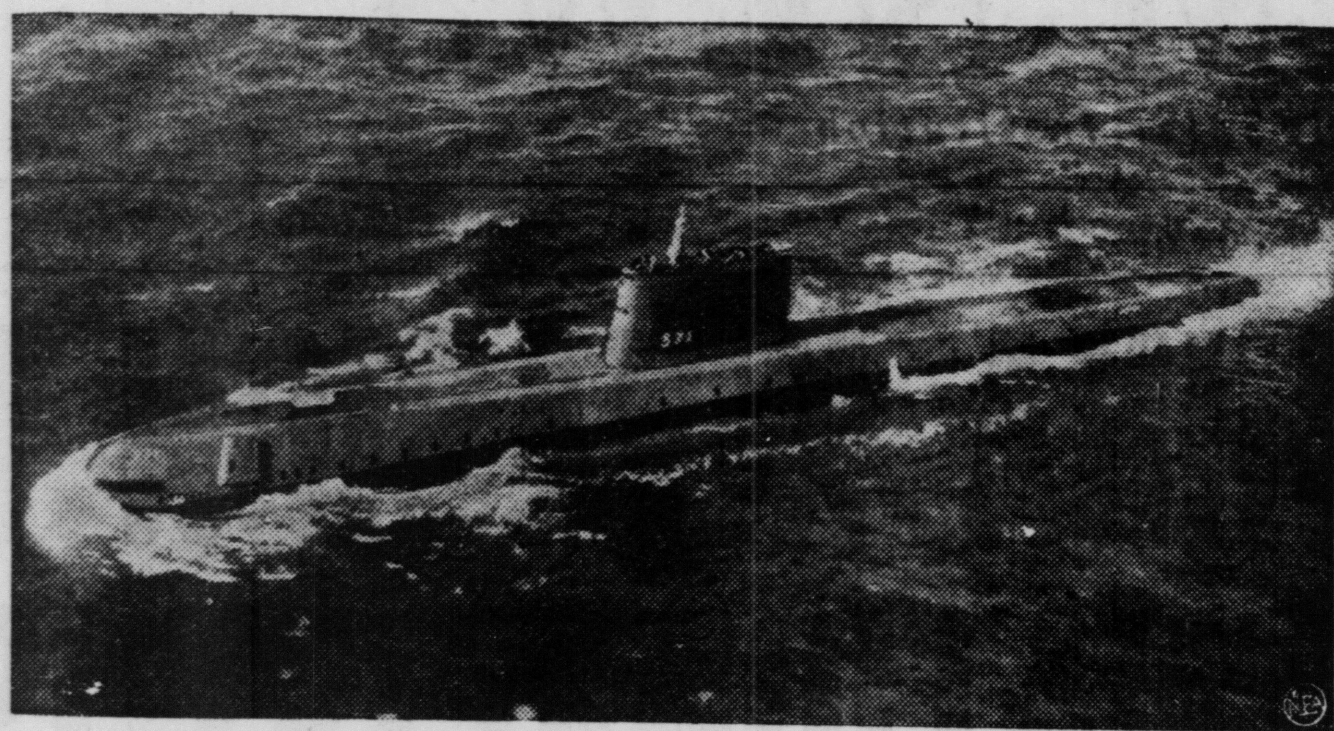

Last July, when it was already American policy to try to keep Red China out of the U.N., Knowland said he would resign his Senate leadership and fight to take the United States out of the U.N. if Red China was admitted. This led Eisenhower to say all over again the United States was opposed to U.N. membership for the Red Chinese.

Knowland again moved down an opposite path from Eisenhower last November when he denounced the idea of coexistence with communism although Eisenhower had said peaceful coexistence was the hope of the world.

Next Knowland called for a blockade of Red China to force the release of the captured American fliers. He wanted the U. N. to help but suggested the United States do the blockading alone if that was necessary.

Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles shortly afterward repudiated the idea of a blockade. Both said a blockade was an act of war.

On Dec. 15, before U.N. Secretary Dag Hammarskjöld had set out for Red China to seek the UNDER WAY ON NUCLEAR POWER — The USS Nautilus, first atomic-powered submarine, glides through the Thames River at Groton, Conn., as it begins a week of sea trials. The $55,000,000, 300-foot-long ship was launched and christened by Mrs. Eisenhower last year, but its trial was delayed after a steam pipe burst.

fliers' release, Knowland said he doubted the mission would succeed, again he mentioned the idea of a blockade.

He returned to this theme Dec. 19 when he advocated economic sanctions against Red China, if Hammarskjöld failed, and, if sanctions didn't work, he suggested "the other civilized nations join the United States in a blockade."

He said on Jan. 12, while Hammarskjöld was returning from Peiping, that if the Swedish diplomat's mission had failed, the U.N. should blockade Red China.

The only thing thoroughly clear about the statements given out by Hammarskjöld when he reached New York Jan. 13 was that he had not obtained the release of the fliers, at least yet.

Eisenhower expressed disappointment but asked for American patience while there still seemed a chance the U. N. might get the fliers freed. Hammarskjöld said the airmen might be released if tensions were eased, whatever that meant.

Had the Red Chinese put a price tag on the airmen, such as demanding membership in the U.N. or Hammarskjöld said there were no deals. But he said it would be "very useful" if the Red Chinese were "directly represented here."

That seemed to mean membership in the U.N.

Yesterday Knowland called Hammarskjöld's mission a failure, and said one obvious Red Chinese goal is a U.N. seat.

Higher Profits, Income Cause Stock Market Prices To Mount

NEW YORK (AP) — Senators asking why stock prices climbed so fast in November and December can find one of the answers in the President's new budget.

President Eisenhower expects U. S. Treasury receipts to rise by one billion dollars in the next fiscal year because his advisers look for corporate profits to increase by 7 per cent and the total of individual incomes to climb 4 per cent.

Stock traders came to the same conclusion several months ago. They expect business to be better and profits (and dividends) higher for the corporations whose shares they've been buying—if not for all.

The stock market rise has been anticipating the better business prospects. Some brokers warn that it may well have discounted the gains by now for most of the favorites in the long upward surge of the market.

But new plans keep popping up for expanding the economy. The proposal to send 101 billion dollars for new highways in the next 10 years is one. The plan to spend 600 million dollars on bridges and expressways in the New York metropolitan area is still another. For some industries that spells good times, and profits.

That the administration hopes to carry out its plans for expanding the economy without setting off a new round of inflation is indicated by recent moves to tighten credit.

Solons Seek TV Of OSU Games

Bill Introduced To Te'vise All Games

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Legislature will be asked today to direct Ohio State University to make every effort to televise its football games for the next two seasons.

The measure, in the form of a proposed law, would require the Ohio State trustees to seek the consent of each football opponent to televise home games. If the consent is received, the bill says, the television contract shall permit the viewing of the game by "the greatest number of the people of Ohio."

The bill is ready for introduction in the House by Reps. Thomas J. Barrett (D-Mahoning), G. D. Tablack (D-Mahoning) and Francis D. Sullivan (D-Cuyahoga).

Similar legislation was ignored by the Legislature two years ago, but the fact Ohio State won the mythical national championship in the 1954 season has lent spurs to the foes of the "Game of the Week" policy of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn.

The sponsors' preview of the television measure stole the legislative show from 41 bills introduced last night as legislators returned to the state capital for their third week.

It also eclipsed a brief and unspectacular hearing before the Senate Highway Committee on a bill to strip the Ohio Turnpike Commission of final authority to issue bonds for construction of further turnpikes.

Only two witnesses in addition to the author, highway committee Chairman David McK. Ferguson (R-Guernsey) showed up to testify in favor of the bill. Opponents will be heard Jan. 31, Ferguson decided, after Allison C. Neff of Middletown said the opposition was not prepared.

Among the bills introduced last night were measures to:

Change Ohio's method of putting murderers to death from the electric chair to the lethal gas chamber.

Take away from state agencies the right to court appeal when licensing cases are decided against the state.

Take away from the liquor department the right to impose a liquor permit freeze and return it to the Legislature.

Permit renewal of liquor permits while they are being held in departmental safekeeping.

Prohibit collection of salary by short-term legislators unless they serve during a session of the assembly.

Remove administrative authority from members of state utilities commission and place it in hands of public service administrator who would be appointed by governor at salary of $10,000 a year.

Declare general election days holidays.

Provide an administrative assistant for the Ohio chief justice.

Give owners of commercial radio and television stations the same rights to special auto license tags as amateur radio operators.

Boy Gets White House Letter For Present

SOMERVILLE, Mass. (AP)—Clifford Woodbridge, 11, today proudly displayed a letter on White House stationery acknowledging a Christmas present—but he's wondering about David, one of the signers.

Clifford had sent a calendar he made to President Eisenhower last month.

He got a letter from the White House ystrday thanking him for the gift. It was signed "Mamie and David."

Clifford's mother said they know "Mamie" is the President's wife, "but we aren't sure whether the David means the President (whose middle name is David) or his grandson."

Gas Chamber Urged For Ohio

Representative Wants Electrocutation Ended

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's ancient electric chair ought to give way to the more modern lethal gas chamber, says Rep. Kark Bauer, Canton Republican.

He offered a bill yesterday in the Ohio House to change the method in which Ohio carries out capital punishment.

Bauer contends the method of killing a murderer by dropping a chemical pellet in a vat of cyanide is more humane than by "passing a current of electricity through his body until he is dead."

The Canton legislator pointed out eight states have adopted the lethal gas method of capital punishment in the last 20 years.

He estimated the cost of installing a lethal gas chamber at Ohio Penitentiary at $10,000.

Bauer had some strong words to say, in a prepared release, about capital punishment methods:

"In olden days the Indians scalped their prisoners and burned them at the stake. How we in Ohio shave their heads and proceed to fry them in the electric chair.

"The use of the gas chamber is the most humane way known to carry out the death penalty. It is painless, as has been demonstrated by many deaths due to faulty mufflers on cars, where the victims were found in a sitting position, showing conclusively that they just passed away without knowing it, and it was absolutely painless."

"When electrocuted, a person is strapped in a chair, a steel plate is put on the head. Otherwise, the victim would be twisted into the shape of a pretzel.

"The condemned man might just as well have been hit on the head with a baseball bat."

Unmentioned by Bauer was the fact that, before electrocution, Ohio put to death its murderers by hanging.

Home Has Been Found For Unwanted Lion

CHICAGO (AP)—A home has been found for Monty, a performing lion who grew too boisterous for a night club act and was given by his owner to the animal Welfare league to find a home for him.

The league reported astonishment last week when more than 100 persons or groups phoned or called at the league shelter asking to adopt the 200-pound, 18-month-old lion. Most of the applicants said they planned to keep him in their garage or back yard.

The league announced it has decided to give the lion to the Racine, Wis., zoo and will deliver him there tomorrow.

One of 'Most Wanted' Nabbed In Florida

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Lean, Haggard-looking Otto Austin Loel, one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men until his arrest yesterday, says he isn't going to fight extradition to Oklahoma City where he's wanted for a brutal slaying.

"I'm ready to go," the 44-year-old truck driver and handyman told newsmen. "I'm tired."

He will be offered a hearing, however, either today or tomorrow in criminal court.

At his arraignment yesterday, U. S. Commissioner James S. Byrd ordered him held in $50,000 bond on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for murder.

Loel a native of Waverly Ohio refused to talk about the killing—that of Mrs. Elizabeth Jeanne Henderson of Compton Calif. who was stabbed 19 times in the head and upper torso in an Oklahoma City motel Jan. 10, 1954.

He had left Compton in his car on a share-the-cost cross-country motor trip with the 31-year-old Mrs. Henderson who planned to visit her mother in Newark, Ohio.

Court To Hear Case Of School vs Dungarees

WHEATON, Md. (AP)—Paul McQuain's tight-fitting dungarees may have their day in court but they can't get into Wheaton High School.

Seventeen-year-old Paul has been denied admittance to the Montgomery County school since last Thursday because of refusal to wear something else, Principal Elwood Mason explained yesterday. He said the school has a strict policy against such apparel.

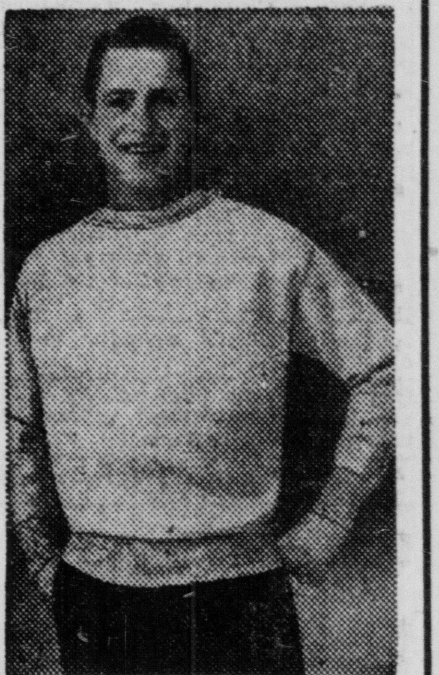

Paul's father Okey Lee McQuain has decided to back his son. County School Supt. Forbs H. Norris declined to overrule Mason, and McQuain now says he's going to see a lawyer.

"Take my word for it—this is the one you ought to drive—here's why"

— SAYS ED SULLIVAN

"With all my years on the Broadway beat and on television—and all my years of driving—I've never seen a show like this on the road before. Of course—I'm referring to this great new Mercury Montclair. Now—you've seen the dream cars that all the manufacturers have been showing. Well, here are lines right out of the future—and the best part of all is—you can drive this dream car today, and take five other people with you.

"For all its lower silhouette, you have plenty of room inside for six normal-sized people. And speaking of the inside—the Montclair's interiors are so luxurious, so beautiful, so different—you'll want to park it with the doors open just to show off the dazzling upholstery and trim colors and combinations. And when you're driving along, you know that all eyes will be riveted on its new design—from the recessed, hooded headlights, along the under-window panel that carries down the contrasting color from the roof, back to the dual exhausts built into the massive rear assembly.

"But you have to get behind the wheel and take it out on the open road to understand why its performance gets such rave reviews. It's not just that the new SUPER-TORQUE V-8 engine delivers 198 horsepower. The most important thing is that you get more power where it counts—super acceleration at normal speed ranges where you do most of your driving.

"I could take the full hour of 'Toast of the Town' just giving you the lowdown on the new Mercury's eye-popping performance and the show would be a sensation. But here I am running out of space, without even mentioning the all-new Mercury Montereys and Customs, with their exciting 188-hp performance, new styling, new lower, longer lines. Tune in on this great new Mercury line for 1955 at your dealer's now—and I'm sure you'll give them your highest rating."

Heat's On

Millions of us who do not understand the first principle of submarine design can grasp without any need of special knowledge the importance of the Nautilus, the U.S. Navy's first atom-powered submarine.

Tests of the new vessel begun yesterday will demonstrate under unusually challenging circumstances the possibility of using atomic energy to produce controlled heat. The Nautilus is no more or less than a sea-going atomic reactor. If atomic energy can be converted into heat under the conditions imposed by submarine design, it can be converted into heat for almost any conceivable purpose.

This is an example of the same kind of experimentation that brought the modern airplane into being. Although there always are misgivings when the military importance of a new idea is stressed at the expense of its importance in other fields, the Wright brothers built their first plane for the U.S. Army. In the 50 years since then, the military importance of airplanes has stimulated and speeded up the evolution of frame design and engines tremendously.

Every engineer in the United States with any interest in production of power will be watching the Nautilus. Here for the first time is going to be demonstrated the possibility of a "power package" — a semi-permanent source of energy small enough to be carried in a mobile container.

Previously, submarines relied on the now obsolete storage battery for power when running submerged. Storage batteries finally were made obsolete by the success of German designers who designed a diesel engine that could "breathe" through a tube thrust above the surface. But the fuel for locomotion still had to come from an outside source.

It is reported that the atomic reactor in the Nautilus was generating heat at the close of last week. A curtain has been pulled aside to give us a glimpse of some of the possibilities of the future that are more pleasant to contemplate than nuclear bombs and poisoning from radioactive particles of dust in the atmosphere.

International Restraint

President Eisenhower and Secretary General Hammarskjöld of the United Nations have referred in recent days to the importance of restraint in dealing with the "deeply provoking" detention of U.S. airmen on spy charges by the Chinese government in Peiping.

They have pointed out in their separate ways that nothing is going to be gained by bluff or bluster; that the lives of the airmen may be forfeited if their countrymen do not practice some of the same discipline they expect of men in uniform.

Is this new notion that has been smuggled into high places?

It would seem to be, on the contrary, an idea as old as the history of human relations after the era of fang and claw.

Men have known for thousands of years that anger always takes precedence over intelligence, unless anger can be restrained. Gratifying as it may be in a case like this one to shoot off the mouth and wave the arms, the U.S. airmen can't be saved that way.

If they can be saved at all, they will be saved by cool-headed diplomatic bargaining. Hard as it is going to be for a long time to realize that Red China possesses bargaining power, its power is the dominant fact in Asia today.

It became the dominant fact when Red Chinese troops interceded successfully in the Korean war after the United Nations had warned they would intercede if Gen. MacArthur led an offensive to the Manchurian border.

Long Live Espinosa!

The president of Panama for the next regime is going to be Arias Espinosa, who was second vice president when the late President Remon was assassinated on Jan. 2. First vice president at that fateful moment was Jose Ramon Guizado.

Guizado's presidency as Remon's successor was short-lived. In jg time, he was revealed to have plotted Remon's assassination with Ruben Miro, the trigger man who did the deed. Miro was to have been given a cabinet position as his reward.

Unfortunately for the plotters, a reward of $100,000 had been put up for information about them. Key contender for the $100,000 is a teenage girl whose boy friend furnished the assassination weapon. If she gets the whole amount, she will be the net winner in Panama's latest spasm of political violence.

At least one man will have been killed. Many others will have been marked as figures to watch in future political plotting. Fortunes will have been made and lost because of bullets.

It is customary to speak of this familiar pattern of public antics as Latin America's comic-opera version of government. It is too grim to be comic. It is what happens when government falls into the hands of cynics whose only interest in it is personal advancement.

Skillful Fencing

'Unilateral Action' Clue To Release Of Airmen

Anyone familiar with the resourcefulness of personal diplomacy conducted with the old-fashioned skill that averted many a world crisis will read between the lines and come to the hopeful conclusion that after all the shouting dies down the 11 American fliers will be released by Red China's government.

The manner of doing it may not bring enthusiasm, indeed some of its aspects bring a sense of humiliation, but the prediction made by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. to the U.N. that the fliers will be liberated may turn out to have been well-founded.

The key to what's been happening can be found in the following paragraph taken from the stenographic record of the press conference held by Dag Hammarskjöld, secretary general of the U.N., on his return to New York. He said:

"It is not really a question of negotiations. It is a question of where the ground is prepared by negotiation — that ground having partly been prepared and partly by negotiations conducted by this or that national government. But the final decisions, I think, will necessarily emerge as unilateral decisions and as part of a general development, more than as the result of any kind of settlement."

"When you talk about negotiation in the sense you (the newsmen) indicate now, you seem to have in mind this give-and-take kind of situation which is a typical one. I have already indicated that this has not been discussed in terms of a deal, nor with any link between different problems."

THIS IS THE most skillful kind of fencing with the correspondents. The secretary general tried to be discreet but the significant word in his impromptu statement is "unilateral."

This means that each side does whatever it does without any apparent pressure from the other and seemingly in spontaneous fashion. That way of handling it is almost a prerequisite to success because each side, especially in the case of Red China must presumably not "lose face," which is something of vital importance in oriental psychology.

Literally speaking, of course, the secretary general is correct — there is no deal in the sense of a previously arranged bargain or contract with a specific set of conditions. But, as a result of the conversations at Peiping each side knows what is expected of the other if there is to be a solution.

The secretary general is right in another hint that he has given — this is only the "first stage." This means that the heavens has to have time to work and both sides have to see the situation more clearly before a final settlement can be said to be in sight.

On the American side, too, not "losing face" is important because there is a Congress to think about and a public opinion which hasn't forgiven Red China's aggression in Korea nor her flagrant violation of the armistice terms. Hence it is important to note the character of the statements and actions taken by the United States government immediately after the secretary general briefed Gen. Hull and American Ambassador John Allison in Tokyo.

Four separate things have happened.

First, Ambassador Lodge at the U.N. said he was confident that the fliers would be freed.

Second, Walter S. Robertson, assistant secretary of state for far eastern affairs, delivered a speech in Philadelphia in which he made a blistering attack on the Red Chinese government.

Third, President Eisenhower said America was "disappointed" that the fliers had not been freed, but he urged everybody to be calm and patient and said we would continue our efforts to secure the release of the men held captive.

Fourth, Secretary of State Dulles and Lodge flew out to Omaha to be briefed by the commanding general of the Strategic Air Command, which will throw atom bombs at the enemy if we are attacked.

NOW THE PRESS was told that the "briefing" had been scheduled many weeks ago — but it could have been called off or postponed if deemed psychologically bad. But it wasn't.

This leaves unexplained the Robertson speech, which incidentally was front-page news in the circumstances, but which for some reason wasn't published widely in the newspapers at all.

Robertson declared that "no benefit not fraught with the greatest danger could be derived by the free-world countries from a large expansion of trade with Communist China" and that "the Chinese Communist interest in trade expansion is limited principally to items of industrial and military importance."

The speech also outlined why the United States is "firmly opposed to recognition of the Chinese Communists and giving them a seat in the United Nations."

Robertson declared that "no beneficiaries in Peiping come no closer to representing the true interests and aspirations of their country than do William Z. Foster and his cohorts in this country, or Palmiro Togliatti in Italy or Maurice Thorez in France."

"They are all part and parcel of the apparatus of the international Communist conspiracy. Their objectives are the anti-interests of the principles which constitute the foundation of the United Nations Charter. They are dedicated to the destruction of everything the United Nations stands for."

Robertson added that our government "is opposed to any action which would strengthen the international prestige of the Chinese Communists or its capability for advancing its design for further conquests in collusion with Soviet communism."

The assistant secretary then said: "The regime stands convicted by the United Nations of the crime of aggression" and "it has not expiated that crime, nor its crimes against countless innocent victims of Communist malevolence."

ITS ADMISSION to the United Nations would undermine the real Chinese government, now based on Formosa, which is the one remaining hope of millions of Chinese on the mainland and scattered about the world who despise communism and refuse to accept as permanent the Communist enslavement of their country.

This entire speech was "cleared" in advance by the secretary of state and presumably will be read in Peiping as a warning that on the subject of admission of Red China to the U.N. there has been no chance of viewpoint. The fliers are illegally held and must be released, no matter what else is involved in the hopes of the Red China government for eventual admission to the U.N.

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith

"I hate to break up the game, but I always like to have George's dinner ready—he's a devoted husband about little things like that."

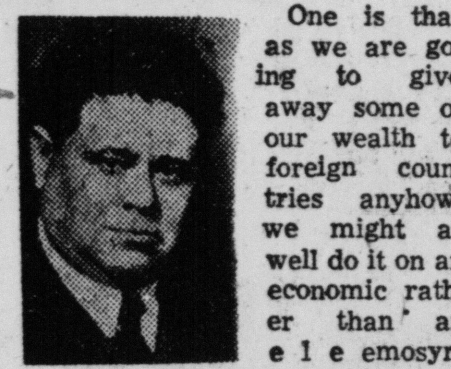

But On The Other Hand!

Two Viewpoints On The Tariff

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

There are two ways of looking at President Eisenhower's tariff proposals which emanate from the Randall Commission:

One is that as we are going to give away some of our wealth to foreign countries anyhow, we might as well do it on an economic rather than an emotional basis.

The other is that if all of the President's proposals go through, certain American industries, such as coal, electrical equipment, watches, wallboard, bicycles, ceramics, etc., etc., may have to be abandoned because they will be forced to compete in the American market with commodities that are made with cheaper labor, that can employ American capital which has a 14 percentage point benefit so far as income taxes are concerned, and that will come in at a reduced tariff.

THE HISTORY of the tariff in the United States has, in the past, been principally the story of a conflict between manufactured goods and farm products, between the industrial East and the agricultural South and West.

The American tariff was originally designed to protect our infant industries, which are no longer infants. In 1955, that is not the conflict. The differences of view are between the great units of production — Big Business, as it is called — and the small manufacturer.

Big Business is world-conscious. It not only hopes to sell universally, but it manufactures in many countries. Its capital is not only locally invested; it is invested in many countries. Big Business is accustomed to its units of production to compete against other units of production within the same company as an Oldsmobile and a Buick compete against each other although both are owned and made by the same company; or as the British-made Ford competes against the American-made Ford.

not only in London but in New York.

Big Business is not only politically internationalist but it is economically internationalist because that is the way it has been organized.

THAT IS NOT true of the small manufacturer. He makes goods for a local market, whether that market is the United States or some region of the United States. He may or may not produce a superior product to one made elsewhere on the face of the earth, but he employs American labor, pays taxes not only to the federal government but locally, and his price is geared to the American standard of living.

If our smaller manufacturers are driven out of existence by faulty economic policies based on globalism rather than American interests, the social damage could be enormous.

Those who are doctrinaire about the free market do make the point that if such American manufacturers cannot compete with foreign goods, they ought to go out of business, as an admission of their inefficiency.

This position would undoubtedly have much virtue but when the government subsidizes the export of American capital to manufacture competitive goods by a 14 percentage point differential, the advantage to the American manufacturer abroad with cheaper labor and cheaper costs all around is so great as to be non-competitive.

It will be more efficient to manufacture in Canada than in the United States.

A free market is only possible if there are no subsidies, no rebates, no economic tricks.

IN THIS struggle, Big Business will, without doubt, win the immediate battle. It has utilized great persuasive forces to convince the American people that we ought to have a lower tariff, easier customs procedures, and now a rebate on taxes for investments abroad, a tax differential that benefits them tremendously. This does not solve the social problem of unemployment in the United States and that will have to be solved because the unemployed vote in elections as well as the employed do, and their votes count for as much.

In such a state as West Virginia where residual oil is knocking down the coal industry or in certain areas of the southwest where lead and zinc are suffering the consequences of low tariffs, unemployment can develop into a major political issue as it already is a social problem.

The present tariff proposals are the most radical in our history. They have been discussed for years, but neither President Roosevelt nor President Truman—both low tariff men—dared politically to grant a subsidy for the export of capital. That has now been done and is before Congress for decision.

A-B-C On Ike's Budget

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is an A-B-C on the budget which President Eisenhower sent to Congress Monday.

A formidable document, thick as the biggest telephone book, it's Eisenhower's explanation of a year of running the government another year.

Government employees have worked on this budget for months, trying to figure out precisely what the cost will be for the fiscal year starting next July 1, called fiscal 1956.

Principally because of the cost of handling the cold war and maintaining defense, they have not been able to keep government expenses below income. Secretary of the treasury Humphrey has said this new budget will not be balanced.

So the government will have to borrow to make up the deficit, whatever it turns out to be in the end. Because of his expected deficit, you are likely to be disappointed if you're looking for an income tax cut this year.

Since the government's executive branch under Eisenhower can't spend anything unless Congress, the legislative branch, votes the money, the President has to send his budget request to the lawmakers.

From now until next summer, when it's due to quit for the year, Congress will be examining and arguing over this budget, trying to cut it down.

Work on the budget started last summer. Officers in the Bureau of the Budget got together with the various government departments and special agencies, laying down spending limits for them to shoot at. Then officials in the departments, agencies and bureaus went to work.

the beginning of fiscal 1956, next July.

Their estimates then went to budget offices in each department and special agency. They examined the figures, comparing them with the present year, trying to reduce them.

This meant a lot of conferences within the departments and agencies. Finally the head of each department or special agency had to approve. Then the estimates were sent to the Budget Bureau.

Officers there tried to cut down the anticipated expenses again and they held conferences with the department and agency officials.

After the Budget Bureau decided it had expenses down as far as possible, the President had to approve. Then, with his assistants, he wrote an explanation called the budget message to send to Congress along with the figures.

Now Congress goes to work. The appropriations committees of House and Senate will call before them the officials of the departments and the agencies to explain why they think they need the money they asked for, and if they can, explain why they can't do with less.

These hearings go on for months. When the committees are satisfied that they have the estimates reduced to the bone, they send the estimates along with their recommendations to the House and Senate.

And on the floor of both houses money may be added or taken away. If the House and Senate vote different amounts, as they generally do, committees from both houses are set up to iron out their differences and then both houses vote on the compromised figure.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Aesop On The Volga River

Russia is rewriting fables and fairy tales. In a Hansel and Gretel story the witch is a capitalist and the gingerbread house is a plutocratic residence. We anticipate the following:

THE HARE AND TORTOISE

Once upon a time a hare ridiculed the slow pace of a tortoise. The latter said, "Though you be swift as the wind, I can beat you in a race." The hare accepted the challenge. The tortoise went over the course with its slow but steady pace. The hare took time out for a nap. When he opened his eyes he saw the tortoise already at the finish line.

The hare was a capitalist hare which had trained at a great building called the United Nations headquarters. It put much faith in resolutions. The tortoise had a shell obtained through lend-lease and got its self-confidence through fixing its eye on long-distance goals and minimizing speed at Teheran and Yalta.

THE CROW AND THE PITCHER

A crow, perishing with thirst, saw a pitcher and, hoping to find water, flew to it with great delight. When he reached it he discovered it held so little water he could not get at it. He tried every trick he knew, but he couldn't veto a pitcher and although he walked out on the situation several times nothing happened and he remained thirsty.

At last he collected many stones and dropped them into the pitcher, one by one, until the water level was brought within his reach. But just when he was about to drink he thought of germ warfare and hesitated. Finally he drank, with no ill effects. But he charged the pitcher with germ warfare anyhow and declared the pitcher had been placed there by American spies. Why not?

THE WOLF IN SHEEP'S CLOTHING

Once upon a time there was a wolf who wrapped himself in woolen clothing and prowled about peaceful homes where, despite a big decrease in mutton, he was not suspected. Discovered by the shepherd, the wolf was flogged and driven into the wilderness, with three abstentions and six abasements.

"Why whip the animal?" asked neighbors. "I took him for an honest watchdog and found him a tool of Wall Street," said the shepherd.

"How could you truthfully make such a charge," the neighbor asked. "Everybody knows a wolf could not be a tool of Wall Street." "Start writing your confession. You will face a secret trial tomorrow," said the shepherd. Moral: When a Russian tells you a fair tale don't dispute it.

THE FOX AND THE GRAPES

A famished fox saw some ripe grapes hanging from a vine. She tried in vain to reach them. At last she turned away saying, "Grapes are sour anyhow." Foxes are queer. A bear would have got the grapes through a Chinese army of volunteers. And to all peace-loving members of the U.S.S.R. a grape is a grape is a grape.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Old "Ski-Nose," Bob Hope, landed in hot water when he flew up to the frozen atomic bomb base at Thule, Greenland, just around the corner from the Arctic Circle. Hope went up to hand some New Year's Eve laughs to the Air Force boys who sit around on the ice just in case a foreign power decides to send some explosive stuff our way.

And the comedian flew right into the middle of a battle with the Hollywood cameramen's local of the AFL Stage Hands Union and the U.S. Army. Seems that the Army decided to film the show Hope put on that night using Army photographers. Later the film was shown commercially over TV. This miffed the AFL Stage Hands, who have 150 jobless technicians seeking bread and butter.

So they blasted Hope and the Army. They also wrote to Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson demanding an investigation. Result is that Hope, who himself was once a union president (head of the American Guild of Variety Artists), got little but abuse for his flight from lush Beverly Hills to the wind-lashed Arctic.

BUT THE SURPRISE twist to the story is that Jimmy Petrillo broke precedent by approving the use of the 150-piece Air Force band. In the past Jimmy has insisted that only civilian musicians be used on any show, recording or filming which may wind up in the commercial field. So the Air Force flew its band up to Thule for Bob Hope. And the icebound boys had a tuncful New Year's Eve. My boy Jimmy is mellowing.

Private citizen Harry S. Truman, no longer surrounded by Secret Service men, has been quietly slipping into a Kansas City building. And he doesn't come out for a while. There's no mystery, however. The ex-President goes upstairs to a Steinway piano dealer's store-room. There, without benefit of audience, he keeps in practice by playing the grand piano given him last June by Petrillo's American Federation of Musicians.

The union keeps the piano in tune. The Steinway is being stored until it is presented formally to the Truman library. But what Harry S. doesn't know is that he is also getting the immortal trumpet which Petrillo played in a duet with him at the Musicians' Union convention.

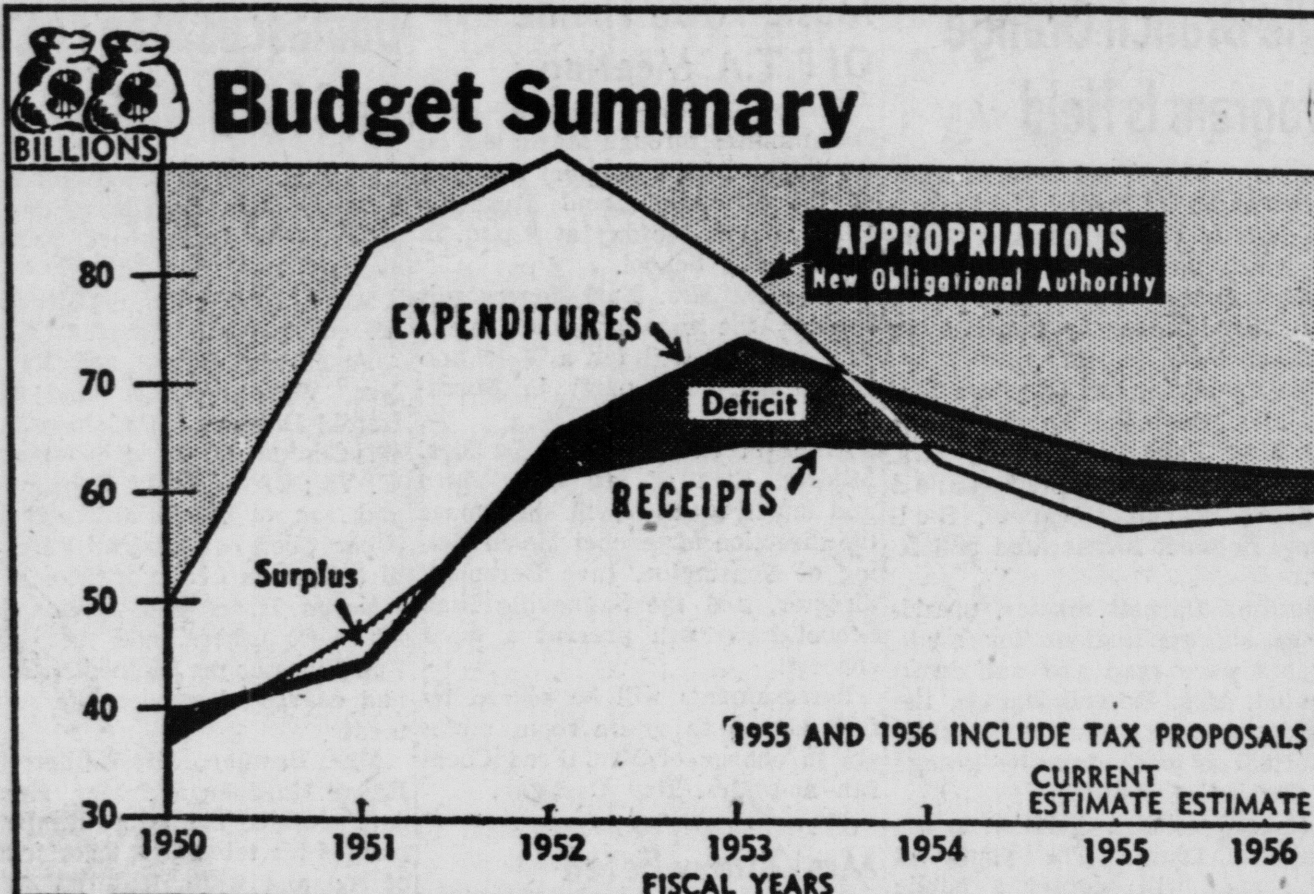

THE NEXT Democratic party national convention may see the same kind of bitter nomination fight which electrified the GOP parley in '32. This time it will be New York's Gov. Averell Harriman against Adlai Stevenson. Important forces in the Democratic party are split — especially inside labor.

The CIO, led by Walter Reuther, is backing the man from Illinois. Many of the influential AFL political pace-makers are building with the New York governor. Right now the AFL Hatters Union chief, Alex Rose, is as close as anyone can be to Harriman and his keen political adviser, Carmine De Sapio.

Rose, an astute political strategist, is considered the clue to what his intimate friend and co-leader of the Liberty party, Dave Dubinsky, will do. And what Garment Workers Union leader Dubinsky does, frequently reflects the AFL's position.

Reuther will have great influence in the Michigan, Illinois and Minnesota delegations to the Democratic convention. The AFL will be heavy in the New York, New England and several southern delegations in which Reuther now seeks friends. It will be a fight, all right.

YOU CAN EXPECT the Communist apparatus to attempt to launch a new third party such as the disintegrated Progressive party

Newschart above is a budget summary showing expenditures, deficits and receipts from fiscal years 1950 through 1956. Note how lines indicating receipts and expenditures continue to approach a meeting—that is, a balanced budget. Deficit in the new budget is $2.3 billions less than that for fiscal 1955.

of 1948. And in 1955, at that. The Soviets plan to hold a national convention sometime before Labor Day. They want this third party NOT because they expect to elect anyone, or even poll any sizeable vote.

Th Communists are saying among themselves that they want it so they can put their "co-existence" propaganda across our national radio and TV networks, free of charge. How? By organizing a political party in "every state," they will have the legal right to equal time with the Democrats and Republicans on radio and TV. That's the law.

AS PREDICTED here, Teamster Union official, Jim Hoffa, now one of the land's top handful of powerful labor leaders, purchased another million dollars worth of Montgomery Ward stock through his welfare funds. This makes two million they hold. It is one of the most significant signs of a trend which already has given labor as a whole considerable voting power in U.S. corporations.

For example, the firm of Martin Segal Co., advises 500 welfare and pension funds. Through this shop alone, these funds invest over 135 million dollars annually.

Of this some 25 per cent is put in common (voting) stock. This bloc of unions now holds over 50 million dollars worth of securities it can vote anytime it wants at corporation boards of directors' meetings.

This bloc is just a small part of the swiftly expanding welfare-pension fund field.

If you don't believe that U. S. unions are led by capitalist-minded men, go to New Britain, Conn. There the Police Union, Local 1165, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, has leased a big lot from the city — and runs it as a parking spot to make money for the union. That's one way to make certain your car isn't stolen.

News of Rural Meetings, Happenings

Ohio vegetable growers, canners, and fieldmen will hold their 24th annual Ohio Canners' and Fieldmen's Conference, Jan. 31 - Feb. 1 in the Ohio Union at Ohio State University.

Eugene Wittmeyer, Ohio State University extension horticulturist, says the program will offer latest findings in vegetable pest control, harvesting machines, and plant tissue tests. Social security, farm labor, and grading are other topics on the 2-day program.

Three out-of-state speakers will join Ohio horticulturists on the program. They are C. B. Sayre, head of vegetable crops department, New York Agricultural Experiment Station; Werner L. Nelson, American Potash Institute; and L. S. Hartley, manager of agricultural development, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

The conference is sponsored by the Ohio Agricultural Extension Service and the Ohio Canners' Association.

Sacks Cut Silage Loss

Covering silage with used fertilizer sacks cut top spoilage from the usual 2 spreader loads to 3 silage carts full on the Warren Farm, RD 5, Cambridge. Silage was good immediately under the sack covering except for a 15-inch band at the wall, when Ewing opened his 12x40 concrete stave silo.

Oscar Share, Guernsey County agricultural extension agent, reports the silo was filled with grass-legume silage in June. The top was "tramped and covered with 6 layers of sacks. Sacks were lapped and joints broken as in laying silage. Used lumber laid on top of the sacks held them tightly to the silage.

Several days after the silo was opened, silage started to heat and spoil. Ewing used a hose to wet the silage 3 times. This stopped both heating and spoilage.

Farmers can buy silage caps to cover silage and reduce spoilage. A silage cap is a plastic cover that farmers fill with water to weight it down for a tight seal over top of silage.

Advice to Sheep Raisers

Profit-minded Ohio sheepmen should set a goal of 125 lambs raised per 100 ewes in the flock, says Ralph Grimshaw, Ohio State University extension animal science specialist. Ohio flocks now average 95 lambs per 100 ewes and these average flocks are not profitable, he adds.

Grimshaw also suggests a goal of 115 pounds of lamb and 10 pounds of wool marketed per ewe. A good wool crop will boost profits, even though wool accounts for less than 1-5 of the sales from Ohio sheep flocks.

Ohio commercial ewe flock records show that sheepmen can reach these goals. Wayne Jinks and Son of Fayette County, for example, raised 127 lambs per 100 ewes and had lamb and wool sales of more than $30 per ewe. Sales per ewe ranged from $20 to $50 in the commercial flock records last year with an average of $29 per ewe.

The specialist says it takes good flock management all year long to reach these goals. At lambing season, he suggests sheepmen keep ewes in individual lambing pens for 2 or 3 days after lambing. Shearing ewes' udders, hind legs and docks makes it easier for lambs to nurse. These practices and use of heat lamps to prevent chilling will reduce lamb losses.

Ewes need 1 1/2 to 2 pounds of grain with good legume hay after lambing to help them produce enough milk to keep lambs growing. Creep feeding lambs after they are a week old will supplement nursing and increase gains.

Any ewe that doesn't raise a lamb or give enough milk to keep a lamb gaining should be culled from the flock the specialist states.

Heavy use of some sulfa drugs may be one cause of hemorrhagic disease in poultry. Heat lamps in lambing pens will reduce lamb losses from chilling. January is income tax month for farmers.

Clipping makes cows easier to keep clean. Lights in barns or dusty places need safety shields.

Sows fed away from their shelters are more likely to get enough exercise.

Ohio Farm and Home Week will be March 21-25 at Ohio State University.

To reduce chick losses, start brooder stoves a few days before chicks arrive.

Quakers Voted 7th In AP Cage Poll

Butler County Powers Out Of Top 10

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Associated Press "Top 10" poll of Ohio's high school basketball teams had a new look today.

Butler County's perennial powerhouses—Hamilton's Big Blue and the Middletown Middies—who between them have won 7 of the last 11 Class A state championships—aren't in their usual one-two spots.

In fact, the Big Blue, defending titleholder, didn't get a spot in the poll after losing 6 of its first 10 starts. And Middletown, the champ in 1945-46 47-52-53, with 5 losses in 12 games, was far down in 19th place.

Topping the list, although defeated 60-56 by Columbus East Saturday night, were Portsmouth's Trojans with a 9-1 record. Columbus East, with 121, is second, and Springfield, 11-1 is third.

Findlay's 1948 state champs, boasting 12 straight conquests, are in the fourth slot, with Canton McKinley fifth.

Salem's Quakers are ranked seventh.

In Class B, Lockland Wayne is the pacesetter in the poll after racking up 11 in a row, several over Class A opposition—the latest a 93-53 win Saturday over Cincinnati Elder. Vienna, with 13 in a row, is second. New Lexington St. Aloysius, winner of the Class B crown last March, has won 10 of 12 but is in an eighth place tie in the ratings by the state's sports editors.

However, St. Aloysius had only five points in last year's final poll, and then stormed to the title over the higher-rated squads. Middletown and Hamilton were 12 in the final Class A poll last spring.

From here and there: All Ohio Rex Leach of Vienna and Larry Huston of Savannah are staging a great race for the Class B scoring laurels. Leach, a 6-4 senior, came up with 54 against Bristol last week for a 13-game total of 564 and an average of 43.3. Vienna has won 30 of its last 31 and is unbeaten this season.

Huston, with 69 against Homersville and 64 against Ruggles Troy, has 582 for 14 games, an average of 41.5. He's 6-5, and Savannah has dropped two of the 14.

When George Swank of Mansfield scored 52 against Ashland a week ago, he gave Coach Vern Hoffman his 40th high school victory. Springfield, loser only to Portsmouth in 12 starts, gets a chance to avenge the loss Friday night.

Champion trailed Mineral Ridge by 25 points in the third period Friday night, but rallied for 78-71 victory. Fredericktown is unbeaten in football and basketball, tacking 13 cage conquests to the 9-game grid streak. Sandy Valley, a new Stark County Class A school manufactured by consolidation of Waynesburg, Magnolia and E. Sparta, has won 10 in a row.

Lima Central, despite close losses to Springfield and Toledo Woodward, has its eye on the state laurels. Central whipped Middletown 83-56, second worst lacing the Middies ever experienced—but has Mansfield, Dayton Roosevelt, Sandusky, Middletown, Hamilton and Portsmouth coming up in a row.

Gary Kesler, unbeaten Willshire 6-8 junior center, is averaging 27.7 although he hasn't been in more than three quarters of any game. Glen Sibley of Wayne Twp. in Butler County has scored 47 and 45 points in his last two outings, and Glen Winkler of the same county's Hanover Twp. is averaging just under 30. Both are juniors.

Pleasant City had won 12 in a row, and was averaging over 10 per game until it ran into unbeaten

Strasburg last week. Strasburg made it 12 straight with a 63-50 verdict.

Runner-Up Candidates In Hockey League To Play

By The Associated Press
Two teams chasing for runner-up honors in the International Hockey League clash tonight in Michigan. Cincinnati generally conceded the top rung on the IHL ladder, increased its lead to 8½ games with a trio of victories last week. Troy dropped four in a row and is expected to lose its second place status this week, perhaps tonight.

Eager to pass Troy are the third place Johnstown Jets and the fourth place Grand Rapids Rockets. The Jets and Rockets meet in Grand Rapids while Troy battles fifth place Fort Wayne.

The Rockets split evenly their last four contests, while the Jets will be seeking their fifth straight victory. Neither Fort Wayne nor Troy could pick up a victory last week.

Toledo suffered one of its worst setbacks of the season, 71, at the hands of Grand Rapids but bounced back with a 5-1 trimming of Fort Wayne.

Teams Again Altering Parks For Home Runs

NEW YORK (AP)—Here we go again. Now it is the St. Louis Cardinals who are pulling down the lofty screen in their Sportsman's Park right field so that Stan Musial, their great southpaw swinger, can take aim at Babe Ruth's home run record and, just possibly, draw a few thousand extra customers into the joint.

With all the regulations that have been drawn up over the years to govern every other phase of the game, it seems remarkable that there is nothing whatever in the books saying what a club owner may or may not do with respect to altering the dimensions of his park. Cincinnati announced earlier that it was taking a tuck in the right barrier at Crosley Field for the benefit of its home run knocker, Ted Kluszewski.

The right foul line at Sportsman's Park stretches 310 feet, which is a reasonable length, but a pavilion cuts straight across the field at right angles so that in right-center the distance from home plate still is a highly inviting 354 feet. For the past 25 years this shooting gallery has been shielded by a screen 33 feet high, and many is the double that has bounced off its face. From now on they will be homers.

There may be one bit of justification for removing the screen. It wasn't there in 1927, the year Ruth hung up his record 60, and the book shows that four of the Babe's blows were made in St. Louis. It doesn't say whether they banged into the pavilion or cleared the roof.

Bill Dinnene, the veteran American League umpire who died the other day at the age of 78, always claimed that a former pitcher, such as he was, worked twice as hard calling balls and strikes as, say, an infielder who donned the blue suit after his playing days were over.

"I still find myself pitching every game I work behind the plate," Bill said one spring in Florida. "I know what the batters can hit and what they can't, so I find myself thinking that if I was pitching to this bird I'd hand him a curve, low and on the outside, and then watching to see if that watusi comes over. It's a double strain."

Salem High School's Quakers, ranked seventh in the state today by the Associated Press in a poll of state sports editors, play games number 10 and 11 this week as the high school basketball season enters the second half of its season.

The Quakers collected 53 points and were ranked behind Portsmouth, Springfield, Findlay, Canton McKinley and Mansfield. The locals ended last season being voted the 11th spot in the AP poll. Last week the International News Service gave the locals the number six position in their poll of some of the state's sports editors.

Friday the Girard High Indians invade the Salem gym and Saturday night the Quakers travel to Sebring for a contest with the Trojans.

Kentucky Nips LSU, Indiana Rips Spartans

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

The frantic scramble for the Big Ten basketball championship showed no signs of letting up today. No team has shown any marked superiority and it's getting so there is no such thing as an upset.

Last night, Illinois, which had become a cautious favorite, got licked by Iowa, one of the pre-season favorites, 92-80, and Indiana, which had been counted out of the running last week after winning the title the last two years powdered Michigan State 88-79.

The Iowa victory over Illinois, seventh-ranked team in this week's Associated Press poll, sent the Hawkeyes—ranked 19th—into a first-place tie with idle Minnesota, each with three victories and one defeat. Illinois now shows a 3-2 mark in four place. Indiana moved up to a tie for sixth place with a 2-3 record.

Northwestern took over undisputed possession of third place by whipping Purdue 93-88.

Iowa had a long haul to beat the Illini, overcoming a 16-point deficit in the second half. Two substitutes, Bob George and Les Hawthorne, sparked the late Hawkeye rally, and with a little over seven minutes remaining they took over the lead for good.

Don Schlundt, as usual, was the big gun for Indiana. He threw in 36 points, including 16 of 17 free throws.

The nation's No. 1 team, Kentucky, had a close call and had to fight right down to the wire to turn back Louisiana State 64-62. Late in the game LSU guards Norm Magee and Joe Fahey found the range and almost pulled to a tie. In fact, with only two seconds left LSU gained possession of the ball, but couldn't make the final two points.

Mississippi upset Vanderbilt 77-63 in another Southeastern Conference game. It was the Commodores' first defeat in league play and knocked them out of the lead. Georgia Tech, which had lost three straight since upsetting Kentucky more than a week ago, was the master of Mississippi State 90-71.

In the Big Seven, Colorado remained in a tie for the lead with 82. Kansas, which hasn't been Missouri by whipping Oklahoma 91-82, Kansas, which hasn't been beaten on the Iowa State home court in six seasons, maintained its record at Ames by edging the Cyclones 73-72.

William and Mary halted Virginia Tech 75-69, and Wisconsin vanquished Butler 57-53 in other major games.

Dodgers Have All But Two Players Signed

NEW YORK (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers might not have won the National League pennant last year, but it looked today as if they'll be first in the contract derby.

With the signing of second baseman Junior Gilliam, the Brooks now have 21 contracts in the safe and only two regulars to go—first baseman Gil Hodges and outfielder Carl Furillo. Neither is expected to cause any trouble.

Gilliam, whose name has been bandied about in trade talk all winter, will get about $13,000, an increase of $2,000 over last season.

Elsewhere on the baseball front: Viv Wertz, Cleveland outfielder who has been holding out for three days, signed for the same figure as last year, about $25,000, and commented that "it's a bit early for me to give any serious thought of retiring from baseball."

First baseman Harry Agganis of the Boston Red Sox has signed and expressed the hope that he'll clinch the job this year.

Jackie Robinson, veteran Dodger infielder, says the current season may be his last in baseball if he is bothered by injuries as much as last season.

Outfielder Cal Abrams became the first holdout of the Baltimore Orioles when he returned his unsigned contract, but pitcher Harry Byrd has signed.

Giants outfielder Willie Mays, home for a vacation from the winter league in Puerto Rico, says, "I'm tired of baseball."

Over the nation, school enrollments will increase 25% by 1950—33.6% by 1965. In some communities the increase will be much greater. To be ready for tomorrow's school children we have to look ahead at least ten years. A long-range school plan must be added to all that's been done or is to be done to meet the immediate needs of our schools.

Kentucky Holds No. 1 Ranking

Carolina State 2nd, Maryland Moves Up

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
The Associated Press

Kentucky, back in winning stride again, held a commanding lead today in the Associated Press weekly ratings of the nation's top college basketball teams.

For the fifth straight week the Wildcats ranked as the No. 1 team, reaching 926 points on the basis of 10 points for first, 9 for second, etc. Of the 115 ballots cast by sports writers and sportscasters, 55 listed Kentucky in first place.

North Carolina State maintained its second-place status with 590 points, despite a loss to Maryland last week.

San Francisco's up-and-coming Dons won three games last week and jumped from fifth to third. La Salle remained No. 4, but its Pennsylvania rival Duquesne dropped from third to fifth, thanks to an upset by St. Francis of Pennsylvania.

Maryland, on the strength of its success over N. C. State, experienced the biggest jump of the week in advancing from 11th to sixth. Illinois remained No. 7.

Missouri and George Washington both fell off the pace slightly. The Big Seven representatives tumbled from sixth to eighth, while GW skidded one notch from eighth to ninth.

Utah and UCLA round out the top 10, in a tie for 10th.

NEW YORK (AP)—A record field of 735 teams has been entered for the 29th annual Ohio Women's Bowling Assn. tournament at Toledo starting Feb. 5, it was announced today.

Billy Schueller of Dayton, secretary of the association, said the tournament, to take place at the Superior Lanes in Toledo, will run for nine consecutive weekends.

Entris also include 1,599 teams in the doubles and 3,198 in singles.

Iowa Trips Illinois, Ties For Big 10 Cage Lead

CHICAGO (AP)—Iowa's Hawkeyes found themselves in a tie with Minnesota for the Big Ten basketball lead and Northwestern held the runner-up spot today.

Meanwhile, Illinois, Michigan State and Purdue learned that it takes more than a healthy first-half lead to win Western Conference basketball games.

All three, holding from 10-19 first half margins in last night's games, wound up on the short end. Iowa bounced Illinois, 92-88, Northwestern beat Purdue, 93-88, in overtime, and Indiana dropped Michigan State, 88-79. The Hawkeyes, and the Gophers who were idle last night, are tied for the lead with 3-1 marks.

Iowa, trailing 7-35 at half time, saw Illinois push to a 61-45 lead. Then the fireworks began and Iowa outscored Illinois 25-8 for a 70-68 lead. Iowa kept adding to the margin and won, going away.

The loss dropped Illinois to 7th ranking team in The Associated Press poll this week—to fourth place in the Big Ten standings. Northwestern pushed its way back into contention with a thrilling overtime victory over Purdue after trailing 10 points midway in the second half.

Indiana came out of the doldrums to snap a three game losing streak at the expense of Michigan State. The Hoosiers trailed by 16 points at halftime and saw Michigan State take a 19-point lead in the second half before they put on the steam.

Don Schlundt led the way with 36 points. In a non-conference game, Wisconsin jumped back from a 43-37 halftime deficit to defeat Butler, 57-33.

Says Boxing Needs Good Promotion, Not Probing

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEW YORK — Julius Helfand is the new chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission.

Helfand has been an able investigator in the Brooklyn District Attorney's office, worked on Murder, Inc., broke the Harry Gross bookmaking case.

But professional boxing has been investigated since bare knuckle days, New York District Attorney Frank S. Hogan taking a solid whack at it more recently and getting nowhere in particular.

As we remarked a few columns back, no one cares much about who is back of the fighters as long as the fights are good.

And right now the sour science requires intelligent promoting vastly more than a slick sleuth.

A way must be found to bring back the smaller clubs, although with the television problem nobody seems to know how. Brooklyn's Fort Hamilton Arena, for example, had to chuck it last summer. Operating outdoors from early May through October, this club long averaged $5,000 a production.

THE LITTLE CLUBS supplied the talent and the few remaining gymnasiums practically are empty these days.

The International Boxing Managers' Guild could help mend the sad situation by not forcing matchmakers of televised shows to put $100 fighters in $1500 semi-finals.

Inasmuch as only the main event goes on the air, the preliminaries are meaningless to the huge TV audience, so a lot of junk is dropped into them.

The result is that future main events no longer are being developed in the prelims. Thus, with the small clubs dead, the source of supply is choked off entirely.

Helfand could see that the politicians do not ram surplus doctors, referees and judges down the throats of small club promoters.

This alone helped reduce New York State's small clubs to a minimum and wiped out the game entirely in New Jersey. With the little fellows folding left and right, it is ridiculous to make them pay three referees, three judges and two physicians a total of $400, which is the case today.

THE MANAGERS' GUILD could further assist by lowering the standard rates of preliminary boys. This would help put clubs back in action and pay rich dividends. The main idea is to give younger boxers action.

Worthwhile scrappers in each division can be counted on the fingers of one hand, and they have to be matched to draw much more than the TV money.

That's why Sandy Saddler doesn't defend the featherweight championship, for instance. Red Top Davis, the No. 1 challenger, has lost

Sandy Saddler Stops Perez In 4 Rounds

BOSTON (AP)—Only his home state of New York recognizes Sandy Saddler as featherweight king, but he looked like champ of all 48 last night as he blasted out Lulu Perez of Brooklyn in four rounds.

Lethargic at the start but lethal once Lulu made his one big mistake, Saddler looked like his old self as he turned up for a Feb. 25 title defense against Teddy (Red Top) Davis in New York.

The 28-year-old Saddler nailed Perez with a long left hook to the head early in the fourth round of their scheduled 10. Lulu staggered off the ropes into a two-fisted flurry of at least a dozen blows—all of them packed with power.

Perez sagged to the canvas on his haunches, bewildered. He was up just as the count passed 10. It was all over at 1:34 and he was Saddler's 98th knockout victim. Sandy has won 138, lost 12 and drawn two.

The National Boxing Assn. recently declared the featherweight title vacant because Saddler failed to defend it, but has agreed to recognize the Saddler-Davis winner as champion.

Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano and light heavyweight titlist Archie Moore both donated their services as referees of preliminary bouts to help swell the benefit fund of Mrs. Mary Sanders, widow of Ed Sanders.

Sanders, 1952 Olympic heavyweight champion from Los Angeles, died 17 hours after being knocked out Dec. 11 here by Willie James.

His closest pursuer remains Don Schlundt, Indiana's 6 foot 10 center. Schlundt has 332 points in 12 games or a 27.6 average.

Dick Garmaker of Minnesota took over third place from Dick Cable of Wisconsin with a 24.7 average. Cable, in third place last week, dropped to fifth with a 21.6 average. Garmaker has 297 points in 12 games and Cable has 281 in 13.

Also moving ahead of Cable was Northwestern's Frank Ehmann, who is shooting at a 21.7 clip with 217 points in 10 games.

Ex-Xavier U. Coach To Enter Business
CINCINNATI (AP)—Ed Kuska, who resigned several weeks ago as head coach at Xavier University, announced today he will quit coaching to enter private business. He said an announcement of his future business plans would be made later.

Kuska said he was leaving football after 14 years of coaching "with a deep feeling of regret" but added:

"After much thought and deliberation, I have decided to stay here in Cincinnati with my many relatives and friends and to bow out of football coaching."

Kuska resigned last month after Xavier had gone through its most disastrous season in history, winning only 2 of 10 games. In the early 50's, however, he piloted Musketeer teams to their finest seasons and one included a trip to the Salad Bowl in Phoenix.

Jack Falls Off Beanstalk

MARGATE, England (AP) — Jack fell off the beanstalk last night, dropped 20 feet and escaped with cuts and bruises.

It occurred at the Hippodrome Theater, where Miss Noelle Austin is playing the lead in a musical play based on the old fairy story. She plunged through an open trap door on the stage, landing on stagehand Ted Holton, who went to the hospital with several broken ribs.

Convicts Rebel, Seize Guards, Seek Release

BOSTON (AP) — Four dangerous Massachusetts State Prison convicts rebelled today, seized five guards at gunpoint and demanded a car to gain freedom from the 150-year-old, brick and granite bastille.

The desperadoes allowed the Rev. Edward Hartigan, Catholic chaplain, into an isolated solitary confinement cellblock, scene of the riot, to hear confessions of four of the guards. The fifth is not a Catholic.

Deputy Warden Percy S. Vance answered, "I won't comment," when asked directly if the desperadoes made any threats against the guard - hostages in bargaining for liberty.

A few minutes after 10 a. m., EST, Vance told newsmen he talked by telephone with the convicts. He said the telephone was answered by Walter H. Balben, 37, one of the prisoners.

Vance said Balben let him talk to Warren L. Harrington, one of the hostage guards, and Harrington said they were "okay."

Theodore (Teddy) Green, 39, bank robber and escape artist, was described as ringleader of the rebels. Vance said Green and Balben both had pistols. Balben is serving a long term for murderous assault. He and Green were participants in a mass escape attempt Nov. 7, 1953.

Lisbon Signs New Lighting Contract

LISBON — The contract with the Ohio Edison Co. for new street lighting signed by council Monday night and first reading was given to an ordinance to license pinball machines.

The new lights mounted on arms extending over the street will furnish more light and will be more economically maintained, Beck says.

The license fee on pinball machines will be $240 annually for distributors and $10 a machine a year for establishments leasing them.

guns, just as they have bombarded Yikiangshan from Tounmen.

There are reported to be about 20,000 Nationalist troops and guerrillas on the Tachens, an important link in Chiang Kai-shek's chain of offshore islands.

Earlier today 60 Russian-built warplanes plastered Yikiangshan and the Tachens with more than 200 bombs in 22 minutes. They followed this with a heavy artillery barrage on Yikiangshan from Tounmen, apparently a prelude to invasion.

Tiny Yikiangshan has been subjected to repeated bombardments since Nov. 1 when the Reds reportedly fired more than 3,000 shells at it from Tounmen Island.

Its capture would be both politically and militarily important for it would give the Communists a victory to tie in with their threatened threats to liberate Formosa.

If lost, Yikiangshan would be the first of President Chiang Kai-shek's outposts to fall since the Reds reopened the civil war Sept. 3 with a 6,000 - round bombardment of Quemoy.

Two Hurt in Route 164 Mishap; Two Arrested

According to patrolmen, a car operated by Anna Hudak, 38, of Youngstown stopped on the highway and McBride's vehicle ran into its rear. McBride suffered possible neck injuries and his wife sustained contusions of the right knee. Both were treated at Youngstown South Side Hospital and released.

McBride was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance while the Hudak woman was arrested for stopping on the highway.
